JEAN BOCABEILLE ARCHITECTE

MIXED USE PROGRAM : 132 HOUSING UNITS + 1 RELIGIOUS CENTER + 2 RETAILS BUSINESSES, CLICHY-BATIGNOLLES ECODISTRICT IN PARIS

Formerly a railway enclave, the Clichy-Batignolles ecodistrict is reconquering this forgotten piece of Parisian ground. This major municipal project was envisioned as a response to the elevated need for housing while paving the way for a durable, mixed-use 21st century city. So much data that had to be compiled to come up with smart solutions for a multi-program block (nursing home, social housing, private housing, religious center, and retail businesses).

These programs, with their fruitful cohabitation, contribute to the city's growth with their high quality and symbolic significance. The project provides a strong architectural response to the challenges of urban density and new environmental requirements by creating collective strategies for the entire block.
